

The Urban Studies Program and the School of Architecture of the University of Miami Present

A Lecture by Anko van der Woude

“THE COLONIAL ARCHITECTURE OF CURAÇAO, DUTCH CARIBBEAN”

Wednesday, October 29, 2008

6:00 p.m. Refreshments, 6:30 p.m. Lecture

Jorge M. Perez Architecture Center Glasgow Hall, School of Architecture
1223 Dickinson Drive, University of Miami Coral Gables Campus

Anko van der Woude, a native of the Netherlands Antilles, is senior architect and partner at IMD Design in Curaçao. He has played a leading part in the preservation and restoration of old Willemstad, now listed with UNESCO as a World Heritage Site. He is co-author of Curaçao Architectural Style (1994) and Curaçao Dutch Caribbean Architecture & Style (2004). In his lecture, Mr. Van der Woude will give a historical perspective on the Dutch-Caribbean encounter that produced Curaçao's unique architectural forms. He will discuss recent preservation efforts.

This lecture is free and open to the public. Parking is available in the Pavia Garage one block from the entrance to the University on Stanford Drive. For more information and directions, please visit www.arc.miami.edu or call 305-284-5002.